Casino'Touch by after-mouse.com

Bring your family back together!

Casino'Touch is a game of Boule, similar to Roulette. Up to 6 users play together and take turns placing their bets. Casino'Touch is an entertaining game based on both luck and strategy. As in a real game of Boule, players can make bets on individual numbers, colors, odd/even or high/low. Players place bets using their starting pile of chips, and gain chips after winning rounds, or lose chips after failing rounds. Players compete against each other and the virtual dealer; the winner is the last player standing.

*Casino'Touch is for entertainment purposes only. All bets are virtual and are not tied to any monetary denomination.

How to Play

Boule is comprised of a roulette wheel with red and black numbers 1-9, in sequence and spaced equally. A game board with each number as well as the categories for “odd/even,” “low/high,” or by color is used to place bets. The game has six “Start” tabs on the home screen. Each player must select the button to begin the game. Each player begins with $38 in chips to place bets. The pile begins with one $20 chip, one $10 chip, one $5 chip, one $2 chip and one $1 chip.

New Game

Change for the larger denominations is done by dragging a chip to the dealer’s chip depository. The change will appear in the space in front of the dealer’s depository. The change can be dragged to the player’s till or immediately used for a bet.

A small white number on top of each chip’s denomination will note the quantity. For example, making change for a $10 chip will reveal a $5 chip with a X2 white number noting the quantity.

Before the wheel is spun, each player places the denomination of their choice on the category or number they believe the ball will stop at after the wheel is spun.

The wheel is spun with a single touch, and the ball will land in a pocket. Payouts to the winning player(s) are determined by what was selected for the bet. The odds are substantially better that a player will win with a category rather than a specific number.

For this reason, a player who wins by color, odd/even or high/low will win 1X the amount they bet. A player who wins after selecting a specific number wins 7X. As a rule, the number 5 is not included in any category; a player can only win having selected 5 if the ball lands on the specific number.

In the round to the right, the ball landed on a red 4. Thus, the player who placed their bet on 4 will be paid out 7X the denomination. It was a $2 chip, so the winnings for this round are $14 to that player. The players who selected black, high, and the number 8 have all lost the round.

The numbers from the last twenty rounds are stored in the game's memory. Selecting the "Last numbers" tab adjacent to the wheel will reveal the past rounds.

As in a real casino, the game is ultimately played against the dealer, so it is possible for none of the players or all of the players to win each round. The game will continue with players placing bets each round until only one player is left and all others have depleted their pile of chips. It is also possible for a single user to merely play against the dealer, though the game will not be as exciting.
